Location: City of Fairbanks

Incident: New FPD Website

Case #: N/A

The Fairbanks Police Department launched a completely redesigned website on January 24, 2007. Developed jointly over the last nine months by FPD and the City's Information Systems (IS) Department, the site provides a broad overview of the department's history, organization, operations, special units, and comprehensive contact information for the department and its employees. It also features an E-Services section where citizens can find common report forms in both PDF and MS Word formats to fill out and submit in person or by FAX, as well as a link to the District Court website for settling traffic citations (state statute violations only). Violations of city ordinance must still be handled at the City Clerk's office.

The website is can be found under the "Departments" section of the City's website at www.ci.fairbanks.ak.us
